Andrew,

Excellent – Mark will be sending out the formal terms of reference this weekend and I'll be sorting out the details of the meeting next week.

On a point of clarity, we may have a slight misunderstanding. As per my note on Wednesday, the Parish Council formally co-opted you personally onto the Working Party. To be honest it wasn't a question of choosing between you and Jane, so there is no slight intended towards Jane. It was simply that the note volunteering came from you. This is my fault, I don't think I was clear that both of you were volunteering – it is rare enough to get one volunteer from a household – two is almost unheard of! I do apologise.

I'll take Mark's advice on whether it is possible to (a) have more than one person from a household – it might be considered that this could skew any potential voting in meetings and (b) whether it is possible to add to the Working Party after the resolution made at the Council Meeting.

However, whatever the outcome of that advice I wouldn't want to shut Jane out of the project – the full meetings of the Working Party will be held in public anyway and all of the materials we produce and evidence we gather will be public documents. Jane's opinions, enthusiasm and ideas will be incorporated in way shape or form. I do hope that she'll forgive my misunderstanding !

Best regards
