Dear Nick and Ian,

For the avoidance of doubt, the deadline for the Call for Aspirational Sites is 30th November 2013. This will allow land owners to consider their submissions carefully and to formulate their 20 year strategy. Although you have made an initial submission (NDP-S001/v0.8) it will remain draft and changeable until the close of the call. This should give you plenty of time to consider the potential use for the land behind the site you propose and to come back with the answers to the questions highlighted in the call. It also gives you time to think about the home field and a long term strategy for it.

If you wish to edit the call directly, you should download the Word document (NDP-S001/v0.8/docx) to your computer and make changes there. Once you are happy, you can email the document back and we will process it and publish your revisions.

Again, to be clear we are not advocating development of either location but as part of our planning do need to think about the overall amenity and use of the area. This will be impacted by your proposed future use of all the land you currently have which borders Bidwell Lane. This includes the Barn Site, the Cottages and the home field.

Regards
